

General feedback on Statistics Made Simple

I am very thankful for the course facilitator for the guidance through the whole process. I think it is first time that statistic seemed straight forward and easier to understand with clear relation to its use in research. Thanks again.

Thank you very much for all your support. I really feel that I can use these techniques in my work, which is a first! I would love to take it a step further and will be keeping an eye on your webpages for further courses.

Thanks to you for being very supportive, responsive and visible though the whole course. I am confident that I can take away what I have learned and apply it in my work, which was the main aim for me - can't have asked for anything more! Based on my experience of the eSMS course, I would definitely recommend not only eSMS but any Statistical Service Centre course.

On the presentation of the course...

The course's level is well-pitched, and the interactive diagrams are amazingly helpful. SSC's Flash modules are lovely: I have fond memories of that class, lecturer and whiteboard! I liked seeing other people asking questions, meaning it's OK not to just know and understand everything instinctively.

I think the set-up of the course and the teaching techniques are great! I especially enjoyed the flash teaching modules.

Interactive CAST; excellent 'flash' lectures - very good indeed.

The flow of the presentation - one thing leading to another - the CAST book is excellent

The introduction, exercising, guidance and the pace of the whole course was excellent. The additional exercises in CAST were great too.

The Moodle site was great, as were the flash lectures and quizzes, mostly everything was intuitive.

I think everything we did was helpful, and all slotted together, to provide a rounded picture. It is nice when the same thing is explained again in different ways. Both reassuring and helpful with one's consolidation
